To the editor, Valley News,

One of the best kept secrets in Hanover is the Hanover Town Library, locally known as the Etna Library. The Hanover Town Library was first established as the official public library in 1898 and the present building was erected in 1906.

How many times have you driven by the library on the Two-Mile Road in Etna and thought, "I've never been in there..."? Admittedly, the Library's hours are limited: Tuesdays from 3:30 to 8:30 p.m. and Thursdays from 9:00 a.m. to Noon and then 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

But wouldn't it be worth the effort to discover a new source of recreational reading? Are you #10 on the waiting list for the latest best-seller? It's probably on the "New Books" shelf at the Hanover Town Library.

After school on Tuesday is a great time to browse through the children's section. Storytime for preschoolers and Kindergarteners, ages 3 to 6, is held every other Thursday at 10:00 a.m. Pick up a storytime schedule, or check the Valley News Calendar for dates.

Your favorite decorating, gardening and cooking magazines are on display - even the most recent issue may be checked out for a week.

Happy reading, and welcome to your library!

Sincerely,

Patricia M. Hardenberg
